"A must-read for fans of historical fiction, World War II buffs, and anyone who loves a good love story." - BookBub

In the depths of World War II, a young woman must find the strength to survive and protect the ones she loves...

England, 1940. As the war rages on, young Evelyn Taylor is determined to do her part. She joins the Women's Auxiliary Air Force and is soon sent to work at a secret radar station on the south coast.

Evelyn quickly proves herself to be a valuable asset to the team. She is intelligent, resourceful, and brave. But she is also haunted by the memory of her lost love, a young pilot who was killed in action.

One day, Evelyn meets David, a charming and enigmatic RAF officer. David is everything that Evelyn's lost love was not: he is kind, compassionate, and funny. Evelyn finds herself falling in love with him, but she is afraid to let herself be happy. She knows that the war could tear them apart at any moment.

As the war intensifies, Evelyn and David must face their fears and fight for their love. They must also find the strength to protect the ones they love, even if it means putting themselves in danger.
