The World of Pern

The Dragonriders of Pern series is set on the planet Pern, a world that has faced its share of hardships and challenges. Centuries ago, a catastrophic event known as the Threadfall nearly wiped out all life on the planet.

Thread, a deadly spore-like organism that falls from the sky, threatened to destroy everything in its path. However, hope emerged in the form of dragons, genetically engineered creatures that breathed fire and could destroy Thread before it could reach the ground.

To combat the Threadfall, humans and dragons formed a symbiotic partnership. Riders, chosen from among the most skilled and courageous individuals, would bond with dragons and become Dragonriders. Together, they would patrol the skies, constantly vigilant for the next wave of Thread. Over time, the Dragonriders became an integral part of Pernese society, revered and respected for their unwavering dedication to protecting their world.

The People of Pern

The people of Pern are a diverse and resilient group, having adapted to the unique challenges of their planet. They are divided into several Holds, each with its own customs and traditions. The largest and most important Hold is Ruatha Hold, the seat of the Lord Holder, who leads the Council of Lords and governs Pern.

Among the people of Pern, there are several key professions that play vital roles in society. Holders are responsible for managing their Holds and ensuring the well-being of their people. Craftsmen, such as smiths and weavers, create essential goods and tools. Healers use their knowledge of herbs and medicine to treat the sick and injured. And of course, Dragonriders are the elite warriors who defend Pern from Thread.

The Dragons of Pern

The dragons of Pern are truly magnificent creatures, intelligent and majestic. They come in a variety of sizes and colors, each with its own unique personality and abilities. Dragons are capable of breathing fire, which is their primary weapon against Thread. They are also highly intelligent and can communicate with their riders through a telepathic bond.

The bond between a Dragonrider and their dragon is unbreakable. Riders are chosen by dragons themselves, and the bond they form is for life. Together, they train and work as a team, relying on each other to survive and protect Pern. Dragons are fiercely loyal to their riders, and they will do everything in their power to protect them.
